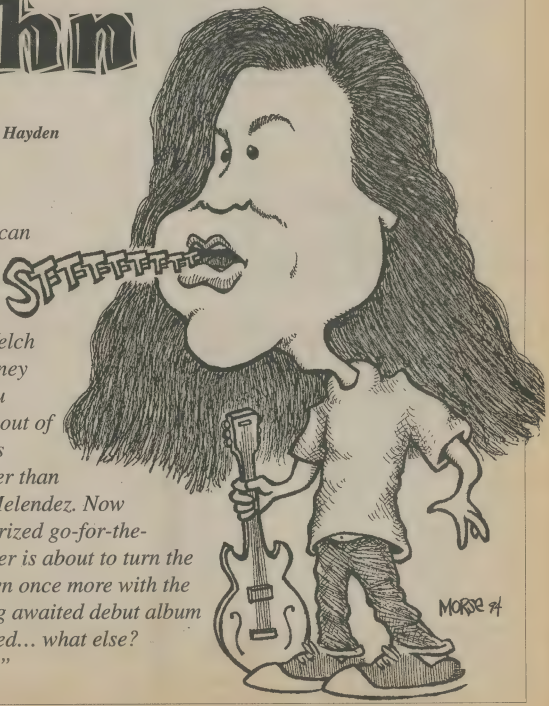
But not when he sings...

Stuttering John

by Chauncé Hayden

There is only one person alive that can claim bragging rights to being punched in the face by Raquel Welch and Morton Downey Jr., choked by Lou Reed and thrown out of the Grammys. His name is none other than Stuttering John Melendez. Now Howard Stern's prized go-for-the-jugular interviewer is about to turn the world upside down once more with the release of his long awaited debut album appropriately titled... what else? "Stuttering John."



Known to millions across the U.S. as Howard Stern's fearless interviewer, long haired and slightly overweight, Stuttering John Melendez has built an empire of sorts off his ability, or lack of, to stutter like no man has stuttered before. While many with a similar affliction might shy away from the spotlight, especially when the spotlight is the Howard Stern radio show, Melendez has had no reservations about joining his Stern cohorts on the air for what, so far, has amounted to nothing short of riveting and entertaining radio.

However, there is a side to Melendez that you may or may not be aware of. A native of Massapequa, Long Island, this 27 year old rocker is also known as a talented guitarist and singer whose balls to the wall style of music has demonstrated the same fearless energy it takes to ask some very uptight and unapproachable celebrities questions that most of us wouldn't dare ask, even in our dreams.

Playing since the age of 11 (he received his first guitar as a confirmation present) and forming his first group when he was 14, Melendez has worked hard trying to make it into the tightly knit rock n' roll community. In fact, initially he applied for a job as Howard Stern's intern just so he could promote a self-released CD of his original music. The plan certainly worked. Several years later and backed by a talented outfit (Bruce Valero, Drums, Bill Titus, Guitar, Paul Dooley, Bass), called appropriately enough "Stuttering John," Melendez has finally completed his much anticipated self-titled debut album on Atlantic which is expected in record stores on April 19th.

Chauncé Hayden: For several years you've been known as "Stuttering John," the fearless interviewer on the Howard Stern Show. Now you have a CD out that's attracting a lot of attention. In terms of your career, have you more or less hit a fork in the road?

Stuttering John: Umm... How do you mean?

In other words, won't it be awkward being a rock star and Howard's intern both at the same time?

Nah, I don't think it will be a fork in the road at all. The first thing I'm going to do is go on tour in the 16 cities that the show is [broadcast] in, then we'll do a Northeast tour and when I'm not touring I'll be with Howard. I haven't really looked much further than that.

Being associated with the Howard Stern Show, do you feel more pressure to succeed as a musician than if you were an unknown?

I think me, as a person, would feel just as much pressure to succeed whether I was with Howard or not. That's just how I am with anything that I do from music to going out and getting interviews. When I go out, if I don't get a good interview it really bothers me. So whether I was with Howard or not I think I would feel pressure either way. It's inherent in my personality to succeed.

It says in your bio that you are now ready to be seen in a more serious light. Is being taken seriously a concern for you?

Yeah, definitely. Only because the music on this album is something that I'm very proud of. I've been playing for about 15 years now and I've been doing this even before I was with Howard. I've always loved writing songs. In fact, I copywrited my first song when I was just 11 years old. There's a lot of facets to my personality and I hope I never take myself too seriously, do you know what I'm saying? But my music isn't a joke. I remember when I gave Howard a demo tape of the new album. Howard has called me at home three times in his life and he called me that same day to tell me how great he thought it was. He even said I should name the band John instead of Stuttering John because he was afraid that people would think the album's a goof or a comedy album.

Apparently you didn't take Howard's advice.

I'm proud of being on the Stern Show and I'm proud of being Stuttering John. I also thought Stuttering John was a great name for a band. So yes, it's been a concern but I think if people get a chance to hear the music, I think they'll decide for themselves.

Obviously you must be aware that there are going to be those who feel that the only reason you were signed by Atlantic is because of your relationship with Howard Stern. So far, have you experienced any resentment from your peers?

"I remember when I gave Howard a demo tape of my new album. Howard has called me at home three times in his life and he called me that same day to tell me how great he thought it was."

A Place to Call Your Own

J.P. Anthony's

EST. 1989

By Jennifer Epstein

Tucked away on a corner along Broadway in Hillsdale, New Jersey is a place where fine dining and exciting evening entertainment go hand in hand.

At J.P. Anthony's, you can pick your poison, whether it be a nice Sunday brunch, a weekend or weeknight dinner or even your Friday/Saturday night out. From fine food to the best live musical entertainment in the area, J.P. Anthony's has it all.

The inside architectural design is quite unique. When you first enter, you're on the main floor. Here you'll find a bar and towards the back, a dining room. This dining room, which is the first of two, is set up with wooden chairs and tables. There is also a wooden balcony that overlooks the downstairs area.

Further back, behind the bar through the brick archways, you'll find the more formal dining area. The decor here illuminates a romantic, relaxed atmosphere with tablecloths, candles and flowers.

When dining at J.P. Anthony's, be sure to sample their "Pasta Factory" where all pasta dishes served are a pound each!

When you walk down the staircase, you'll find a dance floor, another bar and a brick fireplace. Here is where you can dance to live or D.J. entertainment or just sit and relax amongst friends.

J.P. Anthony's is open 7 days a week and begins Monday night with "Mug Night." If you buy one of the J.P. Anthony's mugs, you can enjoy $1.00 drafts the rest of the evening.

Tuesday nights, enjoy the sounds of Alec Phillips and the taste of 10¢ wings.

On Wednesdays, get ready for one of the hottest bands in the area, Voices, to perform for your musical enjoyment. There is no cover before 9:00 p.m.

Coming soon will be "Tribute Thursdays" which will feature various tribute bands as well as theme nights.

There is live musical entertainment on Friday and Saturday nights also. If you arrive before 10:00 p.m. there is no cover. Always look for surprise drink specials that may pop up at any time.

J.P. Anthony's also offers the best prizes in their raffle drawings. You may be the winner of a trip to St. Maartin or the lucky recipient of concert tickets, sporting events tickets or even advance album releases.

Top your weekend off with Karaoke on Sunday nights. Whether you do it just for the fun of it or you have the competitive edge in you and join the contest, it's tons of fun either way.

April's line-up of musical entertainment is a tough bill to beat. Coming in April are Voices, The Nerds, Bums in the Park, Party Dolls and Who Brought the Dog - just to name a few.

Coming soon to J.P. Anthony's will be the Outdoor Café with sidewalk dining. And as we inch closer to the summer, look for beach giveaways which include VIP passes to N.J. shore clubs and free beach passes to Point Pleasant.

J.P. Anthony's is the perfect place to enjoy a night out with your friends or even if you want to come alone. The atmosphere is so friendly and comfortable that it's easy to socialize and meet new friends.

J.P. Anthony's has Happy Hour every day, all day, until 7:00 p.m. with a buffet Monday-Friday. Drink specials include 22 oz. beers for $2 and no drink is over $2.50. There is live entertainment 5 nights a week.

Holly, who is part of this family-owned business, works 6 days a week until 3:00 a.m., but the long hours don't bother her so much because she "enjoys the people, the bands and the atmosphere." Her staff includes bartenders who are courteous and offer quick service with friendly smiles.

Come to J.P. Anthony's any night of the week for a guaranteed evening of fun. Once you visit, you'll definitely keep coming back.

Bill Titus John Melendez Bruce Valero

You mean from fellow musicians?

Yes.

You know I've been playing clubs since I was 16 years old for no money, busting my ass just like everybody else. The reason I initially started working for Howard was to promote my band, and because of that I worked for Howard three years for free, getting up at 3 in the morning to be the first one in the (K-ROCK) studio. I even had to borrow from my parents. I was up to $10,000 in debt, which I just paid off a couple of years ago.

So, as far as my peers being resentful, I guess they're entitled to be but I've worked as hard in music as I possible could. As far as being on Howard, it's definitely been helpful. I mean how many times has Howard plugged the band and played my songs. He even let me play live on the show. Let's face it; every band needs a break. With Van Halen, it was Gene Simmons; with me it was Howard.

It seems anything associated with Howard Stern turns to gold. Do you see the same kind of buying frenzy that took place with Howard's book, taking place with your CD?

I hope! That would be great. Obviously, I would be very happy if that takes place.

Is it possible that someday you'll write your own book?

I've definitely entertained the idea. (Laughing) So far my life has been a pretty amusing story right from the beginning. So yes, I would definitely think about writing a book some day. It would be the world according to Stuttering John.

On the air Howard Stern has stated that he would not participate in any of your videos. Were you surprised?

It did bother me. But I really wasn't surprised because Howard has his own career to think about. Everyone's got to do what they got to do.

Even though Howard declined your offer to appear in your video, other celebrities such as Sting did make cameos. Were you surprised that Sting said yes?

Yes! What can I say. I've been a fan of the Police ever since they came out. And I love Sting's voice, I think he's great, so to have him in my video is just unbelievable. Gene Simmons also does a great cameo. I'm really grateful to those guys that came out.

Although you're a talented musician with a promising career ahead of you, millions of fans will always know you as Stuttering John, the celebrity interviewer. I can't imagine what it must be like being Stuttering John?

I love it. I really do. I think it's cool. I love what I do with the band and I love what I do on the Stern Show. When I was a kid I thought I would never meet someone famous. Then to not only meet them but to actually have it as my job to talk to them is incredible. I love being able to knock some of these stars off their pedestal. A lot of these celebrities are so used to the same questions being asked that it's fun throwing them a curve ball. For a second they forget their facade and become real people. I also find it flattering that publicists and security people are always looking out for me. I was totally flattered when The Post ran an article that said Clinton was more afraid of me then he was of Jerry Brown when he was running for the Democratic nomination.

For a while, you had to wear disguises in order to get into celebrity filled events. Do you still have to do that?

Yeah, I still have to wear disguises, although I haven't bought a mustache from Gordon's Novelty for a while, but I still wear my fake glasses; in fact, I just bought a couple more. And my latest scam, Chauncé... (pausing) I don't know if I should tell you because I'll ruin it for myself.

Come on, John. You know nobody reads Steppin' Out anyway.

I just don't want to tell you just in case somebody does read it. But I will tell you, Chauncé, that it's a great one. It's a totally new way for me to sneak into events.

Now you don't think that I'm going to let you get away without telling me what this new disguise is, do you?

I'll tell you this. I recently had business cards made up using a fake name and the logos from different radio stations. So when I show up at various events, nobody knows who it is I really work for. I'm like the Lon Chaney of stutterers.

In recent years your face has become very recognizable. What kind of reaction do you get from people on the street?

I had one guy throw a big cup of orange soda on me while I was riding on the Long Island Railroad.

"I had one guy throw a big cup of orange soda on me while I was riding on the Long Island Railroad... he said he didn't like what I said to (L.A. Dodger manager) Tommy Lasorda."

Why?

He said he didn't like what I said to (L.A. Dodger manager) Tommy Lasorda.

There's something scary about riding on that Long Island Railroad.

(Laughing) Yeah! Then he ran out the door. I tried to chase him but the door closed before I could get out of the train. Then their was the time when I went out to dinner and met these ladies who were fans of the show; I thought we had a good conversation. The next day they sent a fax saying how cheap I was because I ordered the chicken special. The fact is I like chicken. But that's the nature of the show. People just like to see you f—king screw up. Probably what bothers me most, though is when people come up to me and say how are you. I'll say I'm fine and right away they start yelling, hey, you don't stutter, you're a fraud! I'll tell you right now, Chauncé, I've stuttered all my life.

As a testimonial, I will swear, judging from our conversation right now, that you are one of the worst stutterers I've ever heard.

Believe me I have my good days and I have my bad days. But it's not an act. If it was, I should get the f—king Academy Award.

Although your stuttering has made you a celebrity in your own right, how bad was it being a stutterer prior to working with Howard Stern?

Well I never got laid in high school. I remember there was this pretty girl named Kim DeGinero who was really hot. One day she came up to me and asked me my name. It seemed like she was really interested in me. So I said, "John." Then she said, "What's your last name?" And I tried and tried, but I just couldn't spit it out, so I just yelled out, "MELENDEZ!!" She thought I was some guy from an insane asylum. She said, "All right, all right!" and walked away.

When conducting an interview, which do you consider yourself, a legitimate journalist or a comedian?

A journalist.

You've had many proud moments during your career as a celebrity interviewer. So far, what has been your proudest moment?

'I would say it had to be the Jennifer Flowers press conference. My questions got national recognition. "The McLaughlin Report" even referred to me as Mr. Melendez. Someone came up to me a couple of weeks ago and said, "John, do you know you singlehandedly saved the Presidential election." (Laughing) Now I don't really believe that but just to hear people say that I had something to do with it is kind of funny in its own right.

What do you think about Howard Stern running for Governor of New York?

I think it's great, man! I think that the issues that are on his platform are great. For instance, the death penalty. I think we are all getting sick and tired of these maniacs who are going around killing people and getting off on the insanity defense; just like the Long Island Railroad shooting. I had a friend who had a friend who was shot. There's just too much violence and not enough harsh penalties.

Do you think Howard can win?

I think Howard can win. A prodigy poll just came out and Howard had 41 of the vote and Cuomo had 27. So I think he can win. The only thing that I ask Howard is that he make me his spokesperson. Not only would it be funny to have a stutterer in that position, but I would love to be the guy who gets to pick and choose which press gets to ask Howard questions because I've been pushed around by most of those guys. I would love to say, "No I'm sorry ABC, but Chauncé of Steppin' Out, did you have a question?"

Before we end this interview I have to ask you about your reputation as a financial wizard. Have you really made everyone on the Stern show money?

Yeah, I've made a lot of people on the show money except for Howard and Freddy (Norris). But I've given Jackie (Martling), Robin (Quivers) and Gary (Dell 'Abate) tips on what they should do and so far, Robin has said that I'm responsible for the diamond earrings that she's bought. Gary even said that I have made it possible for him to look for a higher priced home than what he could of normally afforded.

Exactly how much money have you made Gary?

Well that's Gary's business but you would be very surprised.

What's your secret?

For example, I said on the air that AT&T looked good just because I liked the commercials. After the show, brokers from all over the place were calling the station to say what an idiot I was for making that decision and in the next two days it went up 4 points!

Any chance you would be interested in sharing your next big tip with our readers?

I don't want to do that, Chauncé, because if I do that and people lose money, they'll get pissed off at me...(pausing) O.K. Infinity Broadcasting, because it's a good company and the owner (Mel Karmazin) is a very smart guy. I mean, look what he did with Howard. And keep off the big board stocks because when the DOW slips they're the first ones hit.

Stuttering John and his band will be perfoming in New York City at the Harley Davidson Cafe on April 19th and in Asbury Park, New Jersey at the Stone Pony on April 20th.

Steppin' Out Under The Stars
Your Outlook This Week

Weekly Tip: Expect a conflict between one who wants to go fast and one who doesn't.

Aries (March 21-April 19) Consider your alternatives carefully and make your move. That's true in romance, also.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Finish up work you've been avoiding, especially re: sports activities. If you're pressured by bossy types stall.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) Social activities could encroach upon your duties. Don't destroy your savings to get trendy goodies.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) A boss may almost push you too far on. Show compassion and don't snap back. Look for a good financial opportunity.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) A good time for travel, but there's a bureaucratic matter to handle first. It'll only get more expensive if you put it off.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A friend could help you solve a financial problem, so ask. There'll be more pressure, but don't worry.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Pay attention at work. The most important part of the assignment may be implied, not stated. An excellent time for group activities.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Work hard the first part of this week. You should be able to start picking the fruits of your labors soon.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Apply for financing. You might think of a neat way to use it. A time to return to reality. Finish work that's piled up.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Focus on a domestic issue or matters could go from bad to worse. Financial decisions made this week will last, so take care.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A good week for learning, but some other kind of work could take precedence. Postpone a decision and consult a partner first.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) Money may try to burn a hole in your pocket. If you wait, you'll make a more sensible purchase. Volunteer for extra work.

Ask Allison

Q: I would much rather masturbate than have sex with my boyfriend. We've been going out six months and he's just not cutting it in bed. I really love masturbating and no one knows how to touch me the way I do. The problem is that I don't think he appreciates it. What should I do?

A: If it's that he's not providing you with the sex you enjoy, then let me suggest you start showing him how you like to be touched. Maybe he just doesn't know and won't until you tell him. Otherwise, if it's that you just love to masturbate, then do what you enjoy most, try bringing it into the bedroom with him. It's the safest sex two people could have.

CD UPDATE

Steppin' Out Welcomes Ula Gehret

NINE INCH NAILS
THE DOWNWARD SPIRAL

I must say it's awfully nice of low-profile NINster Trent Reznor to grace us with another full-length album... after all, we've only been waiting a scant five years since the now legendary Pretty Hate Machine was released. But no matter, as Reznor has brought his one-man show of neuroses back for another go-around. Although metallic turbulence dictated the somewhat forgettable Broken and Fixed EPs, The Downward Spiral thankfully spends a good deal of its 65 minutes revisiting the electronic misery so eloquently stated on his previous album.

But noise freaks, fear not. The introductory cut "Mr. Self Destruct" can barely contain itself, rushing eagerly through its first verse so that it can unfurl a screaming, overblown genius of a chorus that is to ... Spiral what "Head Like A Hole" was to P.H.M. Tracks like this one and the repetitious assault of "Heresy" grab all the headlines after one play, but greater rewards lie hidden until more thorough investigations are made. "Eraser" begins with a pleasant warbling start but gradually sheds its veneer to reveal a raging climax where Reznor pleads for emotional euthanasia. "Reptile" and "Ruiner" each make clever use of their mechanized formats to provide the album with some gripping moments, while "The Becoming" is a pulsating triumph subdivided by acoustics set before a sensual backdrop.

The only thing holding back the album is Reznor's seemingly irrepressible urge to go ballistic vocally and instrumentally within nearly every song. Sure, I understand that NIN is just his innermost thoughts expressed in an unrestricted musical format, but if he's going to vent himself in songs like "I Do Not Want This" and "Big Man With A Gun," couldn't he at least have done so within a memorable refrain? At least we're offered a pair of songs ("Hurt," "Piggy") with enough restraint to let us know that he doesn't feel compelled to take on Ministry and Skrew in the maximum volume sweepstakes. I can't say I find "The Downward Spiral" quite the equal of its prominent predecessor, but the strength of some songs along with the album's overwhelming sincerity make it a far more compelling listen than any of their industrial counterparts (listen and learn, Mr. Jourgenson). This man's tragedy is our triumph. Long may he suffer.

The Word

By HOWARD INGHAM

Off the top, The Word would like to thank everyone for their support and response to the column. If you would like to send your info for a month at a time, feel free to do so as a lot of people are sending in stuff and sometimes there may not be enough room. If you haven't sent your info, the address is, as always, at the bottom of the page.

The Party Dolls will be at J.P. Anthony's on Thursday, the 14th with their inimitable blend of sound and image. This truly is just like being there. Were you there?

Gumbo Combo is appearing at The Old Bay in New Brunswick on Thursday, the 14th. The band also will be appearing at Odd Fellows in Hoboken in May. Also scheduled at The Old Bay are Anson Funderburgh and the Rockets. This guy has a handful of handy awards and is surely one of the best of the new generation of bluesmen. Check him out on Friday, April 22nd.

Voices will be appearing at The Sports Authority in Rochelle Park on Thursday, April 14th. The band will then open The Osprey Season, that's right, not Duck Season, not Rabbit Season, but The Osprey Season. The Manasquan Club is sure to be rockin' on Friday, the 15th. The band then plays at Tradewinds in Sea Bright on Saturday.

The T.K. Swiss band has two big area shows planned. On Saturday, April 16th, T.K. will be at Images in Bergenfield. Known to be something of a ham, Swiss is sure to put on a tasty performance.

The Buzz Clips do the alternative thing at Shooters in Hoboken on Friday, April 15th. The best of Pearl Jam, Alice In Chains and others will be the aural cuisine du'jour.

Quincy's Junkyard in Rochelle Park will welcome Commander Cody on Sunday, May lst. Keep your eyes on The Word for more information on this truly electrifying act.

If you would like to be included in the column, please send your information to: The Riddle Factory, 70 Lincoln Ave., Hawthorne, NJ 07506.

By Stacy Jenel Smith

New Age music man/"Entertainment Tonight" host John Tesh blames his wife Connie Sellecca for inspiring his new "The John Tesh Project: Sax By The Fire" — which Tesh produced and released via his own record label, but on which he does not perform. "Connie kept telling me, 'put more sax on the album' for my last record — which is a fine thing to tell a keyboardist," Tesh laughs. "That led to the thought of doing an all-sax album. The concept was mine and the songs are all ones I've selected, putting together six of the best saxophone players in the country. That ought to be enough sax to satisfy her," he says. He also says, "I like to think of it as the ultimate makeout record." Tesh is playing weekend dates across the country, with expectant spouse Connie traveling along, until she gets too close to her June due date.

Tesh

"I love having her with me. She's like the only critic I really trust and she's really helped me with my stage show. She'll tell me her reaction to this or that song without worrying about hurting my feelings too much. She's brutally honest."

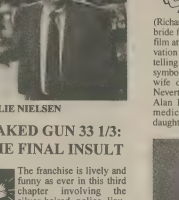
MOVIEGUIDE



LESLIE NIELSEN

NAKED GUN 33 1/3: THE FINAL INSULT

The franchise is lively and funny as ever in this third chapter involving the silver-haired police lieutenant played with dead-pan charm by Leslie Nielsen. Our hero is coaxed out of retirement to intercept a vicious terrorist (Fred Ward). A cavalcade of hilarious sight gags and send-ups converges on the Academy Award ceremony where the bumbling detective turns the event upside down in an attempt to block a bomb explosion. Priscilla Presley, George Kennedy and O.J.Simpson co-star. Pia Zadora and Raquel Welch turn in nifty cameos. (PG-13)

BITTER MOON

Under the helm of director Roman Polanski, a bizarre, sadomasochistic, shipboard romance that is constantly off course. Peter Coyote stars as an unsuccessful novelist who takes a cruise with his young wife (Emmanuelle Seigner). At sea, the writer tells a straight-laced Englishman of his decadent, obsessed, sexual relations with his spouse. The flashback accounts are merely absurd and in poor taste. Hugh Grant and Kristin Scott-Thomas are in supporting roles. (R)

SILENT TONGUE

From writer-director Sam Shepard, a grotesque mid-19th century western involving a frontiersman (Richard Harris) who buys a half-Indian bride for his son (River Phoenix). The film attempts to offer a poignant observation of this historic period. But the telling bogs down with confusing symbolism that evolves when the son's wife dies and appears as a ghost. Nevertheless, the cast performs well. Alan Bates also stars as a drunken medicine show proprietor with daughters for sale. (PG-13)

EMILIO ESTEVEZ

D2: THE MIGHTY DUCKS

MICHAEL KEATON

THE PAPER

Presented in the spirit of "The Front Page," this tongue-in-cheek melodrama recounts the hectic process of gathering news at a flashy, financially-strapped, New York City tabloid. Michael Keaton is the fast-talking, adrenaline-pushed, metropolitan editor who pursues a front-page story while juggling his own domestic problems. Some of the antics are outrageous and unreal, but the film is consistently entertaining nevertheless. Keaton even gets to scream "Stop the presses!" Robert Duvall and Glenn Close co-star. (R)

MONKEY TROUBLE

Decent children's comedy featuring a rambunctious capuchin monkey, trained as a pickpocket, who befriends a lonely young girl (Thora Birch). Even though the newly-acquired pet retains his habit of stealing wallets, these antics come off as somewhat amusing rather than offensive. Some tension builds when the monkey's owner, a surly organ grinder (Harvey Keitel), seeks to reclaim the animal for a burglary caper. Thora is effective as the young heroine and the little animal pulls off monkey shines with aplomb. (PG)

RATING KEY: GREAT GOOD FAIR BORING POOR

GEENA DAVIS

ANGIE

Geena Davis is the title character in this gritty, slice-of-life comedy set in Brooklyn and overflowing with Italian-American stereotypes and regional accents. She's an unmarried pregnant young woman who rejects marriage to her fiance (the father-to-be) for an independent lifestyle. Performances are all decent, but the story never quite rings true and it seems burdened with underdeveloped plot elements. "Moonstruck" often comes to mind, but this outing does not come close to that movie's appeal. Also with Aida Turturro and Stephen Rea. (R)

FOUR WEDDINGS AND A FUNERAL

From England, a frothy romantic comedy of high-caliber and breezy good cheer. Hugh Grant stars as a long-standing bachelor who is ever the best man but never the bridegroom. That's until he meets an irresistible girl played with refreshing spirit by Andie MacDowell. Typically droll British humor abounds and the top supporting cast gives their all. As for Hugh, his performance and demeanor often come close to that other Grant whose first name was Cary. (R)

CHINA MOON

In the spirit of such thrillers as "Body Heat" and "Double Indemnity," this film noir offers a twisty plot, a femme fatale and steamy atmosphere. But despite such sure-fire elements, this Florida-set mystery is vague and ultimately unsatisfying. Ed Harris portrays a lonely, small-town detective who is attracted to a sultry married woman (Madeleine Stowe). They become involved in the murder of her abusive husband. (R)

DENIS LEARY

THE REF

This high-concept, dark comedy revolves around a squabbling, dysfunctional, yuppie couple (Judy Davis and Kevin Spacey). They are taken hostage by a fugitive cat burglar (Denis Leary) and their relentless bickering even drives the desperate thief up the wall. The idea has plenty of potential, but the filmmakers blow their opportunity with a script loaded with overbearing meanness that turns tiresome rather than funny. Glynis Johns co-stars as the husband's crusty mother who is as neurotic and hostile as her son. (R)

MacLAINE AND CAGE

GUARDING TESS

A small-scale comedy-drama that features a generous dose of sentimentality, colorful characters and appealing performances to match. Shirley MacLaine is flinty and vulnerable as a pain-in-the-neck former First Lady. Nicolas Cage is right on target as the exasperated Secret Service agent assigned to protect her. The story unfolds rather slowly as the characters establish their prickly relationships between one another. But the pace and excitement perk up toward the end when urgent conditions develop. Some aspects of "Driving Miss Daisy" come to mind. (PG-13)
